Oilfield Training

With oil having dropped below $40 at the time of writing (its $39.51 on 3rd August 2016) one way in which Operators can save on cost is to have fully-trained Field-Staff, Engineers, Superintendents and Managers, as well as, of course, fully competent field staff and sub-contractors.

IDEAS Training Courses are designed for Operators and Contractors: to boost understanding, performance and, most importantly to reduce the bottom line whilst maximizing safety.

Optimal Oilfield Training involves a variety of considerations, ranging from the students backgrounds, their drilling experience and of course their intended job function.

It is also possible to “tailor-make” training programs for both Operators Contracting personnel alike depending upon their bespoke requirements. We have been delighted to do this for several Operators and Contractors over the years with excellent results.
IDEAS (Independent Drilling Engineering Associates) carries out Drilling Consultancy and Training Services to the highest standards, with the absolute best people in their areas of expertise to serve you quickly, optimally and professionally.

With a typical minimum of 35 years combined field and onshore experience, our expert Consultants and Trainers bring a wealth of experience to your rigs, projects and classrooms.

Our work ethics, practices and training materials are all based upon the extremely high standards published by API, IADC, SPE, NACE, IADC Wellsharp, IADC Wellcap Plus, IWCF and IOGP.

IDEAS consultants have been involved with literally hundreds of oilfield training projects internationally over the years ranging from exploration, appraisal and development wells (including horizontal, ERD and multi-laterals) on land and offshore. Contact us for further details!
